

From ILA's Leadership Jobs Board

www.ILAGlobalNetwork.org/jobs-board/

Class of '67 Leadership Research Fellow

Leadership, Education and Development

United States Naval Academy

Annapolis, MD

Closing Date: Until Filled

Description : The United States Naval Academy is seeking the Academic Year 2022-23 Class of '67 Leadership Research Fellow. This fellowship is targeted for established academic faculty on sabbatical and talented post-docs. This position is a full time 10 month gift funded residential research fellowship beginning as early as late Spring and includes office space, computer facilities, library privileges, conference travel support, and a competitive salary. Health and retirement benefits are not offered.

Duties and Responsibilities:

- Collaborate and advise in design and execution of research projects being executed by Naval Academy faculty and in support of institutional leadership research efforts
- Provide advice on research content and methodology in support of developing requirements for the leader development hub
- Support ad hoc faculty and curriculum development efforts based on areas of expertise (e.g., faculty brown bags, curriculum review discussions)

Minimum:

- Must be a U.S. citizen
- Must have an MA/MS in a relevant field
- Must have demonstrated success in quantitative research methods

Preferred:

- The ideal candidate will have a PhD in the social sciences and an established record of publishing in the leadership domain
- Experience with specialized methodologies, such as assessment centers, social network analysis, meta-analysis, etc.

Application Information: Interested candidates should reference application instructions at: <https://www.usna.edu/HRO/jobinfo/LEAD-ResearchFellow-AY22.php>